Call for Proposals – Proposals accepted through May 15, 2018

We are now accepting proposals for the 2018 Ohio Association of Two-Year Colleges (OATYC) conference. The conference theme celebrates the inherent diversity that creates the fabric of our two year colleges.

We are looking for proposals that explore the visible and invisible connections that create a unique learning environment at each of our community colleges, proposals that highlight best practices for coming together to create something bigger than the individual parts while recognizing the value of each individual pieces. Each of us - students, staff, and faculty - is a unique tesserae (the small pieces that artists fit together) that contributes to the mosaic at our college.

Topics may include, but are not limited to, policies and techniques, institutional methods, experimental cross disciplinary work, transformational initiatives, and strategies that speak to each segment of this discourse. On an individual or instructional level, how do you recognize the value of each potential contributor to the mosaic?   How do you assemble and bind together the pieces to create the larger vision?
